

.....
.....
.....

Related

As a Freemason, why did the most influential Masonic leaders Albert Pike and Manly P. Hall promote the worship of Lucifer in their Masonic writings?

Q. As a Freemason, why did the most influential Masonic leaders Albert Pike and Manly P. Hall promote the worship of Lucifer in their Masonic writings?*

A. They did not. Neither Albert Pike nor Manly P. Hall ever said or wrote any such thing. Period. That is the shortest answer. The longer answer is as follows.*

Such false claims regarding Pike actually are based on a fake quotation from a fake encyclical authored by pseudonymous Leo Taxil, and further repeated as part of what we Scottish Rite Masons refer to as “the lie that will not die.” Those who want to try to bolster the fake quote often then resort to quoting a couple other texts out of context from Pike’s Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Masonry. Very frequently, these quotations out of context are accompanied by (or simply copy-pasted from the Internet), an image of a scan of one of the pages with yellow highlighting and cited incestuously

.....
.....
.....

<https://www.quora.com/What-do-the-Freemasons-think-about-the-letter-of-Albert-Pike>

Повезан

Zašto su kao mason najuticajnije masonske vođe Albert Pajk i Menli P. Hol promovisali obožavanje Lucifera u svojim masonskim spisima?

P. Zašto su najuticajnije masonske vođe Albert Pike i Manly P. Hall promovisali obožavanje Lucifera u svojim masonskim spisima?*

ODGOVOR: Nisu. Ni Albert Pajk ni Menli P. Hol nikada nisu rekli ili napisali tako nešto. Razdoblje. To je najkraći odgovor. Duži odgovor je sledeći.

Takve lažne tvrdnje u vezi sa Pajkom zapravo su zasnovane na lažnom citatu iz lažne enciklike čiji je autor pseudonim Leo Taksil, i dalje ponovljene kao deo onoga što mi masoni škotskog obreda nazivamo „laž koja neće umreti“. Oni koji žele da pokušaju da potkrepe lažni citat često onda pribegavaju citiranju nekoliko drugih tekstova van konteksta iz Pikeovog Morala i Dogme drevnog i prihvaćenog škotskog obreda masonerije. Vrlo često, ovi citati van konteksta su praćeni (ili jednostavno kopirani sa interneta), slikom skeniranja jedne od stranica sa žutim isticanjem i incestuozno citirani od strane drugih kritičara masonerije, a da se ni ne by other critics of Masonry without even bothering to look further into the matter! I refer to the following image.

trude da pogledaju dalje. stvar! Pozivam se na sledeću sliku.

as the life of a dog. "God has arranged all things by weight, number, and measure," says the Bible ; and this luminous doctrine is also that of Plato.

Humanity has never really had but one religion and one ship. This universal light has had its uncertain mirages, its deceitful reflections, and its shadows ; but always, after the night of Error, we see it reappear, one and pure like the Sun.

The magnificences of worship are the life of religion, and Christ wishes poor ministers, His Sovereign Divinity does not dwell on paltry altars. Some Protestants have not comprehended that religion is a teaching, and that we must not create in the imagination of the multitude a mean or miserable God. Those oratories resemble poorly-furnished offices or inns, and those worthy ministers clad like notaries or lawyer's clerks, do they not necessarily cause religion to be regarded as a mere puritanic formality? God as a Justice of the Peace?

as the life of a dog. "God has arranged all things by weight, number, and measure," says the Bible ; and this luminous doctrine is also that of Plato.

Humanity has never really had but one religion and one ship. This universal light has had its uncertain mirages, its deceitful reflections, and its shadows ; but always, after the night of Error, we see it reappear, one and pure like the Sun.

The magnificences of worship are the life of religion, and Christ wishes poor ministers, His Sovereign Divinity does not dwell on paltry altars. Some Protestants have not comprehended that religion is a teaching, and that we must not create in the imagination of the multitude a mean or miserable God. Those oratories resemble poorly-furnished offices or inns, and those worthy ministers clad like notaries or lawyer's clerks, do they not necessarily cause religion to be regarded as a mere puritanic formality? God as a Justice of the Peace?

